Dear Friends,

It is really hard for me to find the words to thank you enough for loving and caring for families that you'll likely never meet and giving generously so that we can help them. In 2021 you dug deep and we had record breaking donation totals come in! Thank you! That means only one thing, we helped even more families in need.

As you will see in our financial reporting, we spent very little on fundraising as there was no travel or conferences and life was different during the pandemic. Our communication remained digital and our Christmas campaign got lost in transit and still you remained faithful to our cause.

In 2021 we began working with families in Afghanistan and nearly every single program kept running during the pandemic; only medic training paused because of strict border closures. Our team kept helping as many communities and families as possible and I'm excited for you to read about some of our combined efforts of all Partners charities in this report.

We get to show up because of your love and we always strive to be the best stewards of your generosity and trust. Our numbers are clear, transparent and if you have any questions, I would love to answer them. You can find our audited financial statement on our website if you would like an even deeper look into how your gift was used.

I hope you feel encouraged reading this report, knowing that you were part of helping 345,435 people in 2021!

Free, full lives for children affected by conflict and oppression.
THIS IS OUR VISION.

Ensuring children and communities affected by conflict and oppression are safe, healthy, and have access to education.
THIS IS OUR MISSION.

We act by providing emergency relief during acute crisis events and by working with communities of displaced families to design sustainable development initiatives that transform community wellbeing, improve health and education, and provide a nurturing environment for children.
THESE ARE OUR METHODS.

EMERGENCY RELIEF.

If there is one aspect of our work that we seem to be known for, it is our ability to rapidly respond to a crisis event and to meet families and children in the worst seasons of their lives with emergency relief. We do this in two ways.

Firstly, we fill the gap between the beginning of an acute crisis and the arrival of relief from larger aid organizations.

Secondly, there are always displaced people who - for various reasons - do not receive aid even when the larger aid organizations eventually come. They are at the end of the line. We are there for them also.

We are able to do both of these because we have autonomy, we are nimble, and we know our lane.

“The COVID-19 situation was serious in the IDP camp. We did not have the money to buy nutritious food. We were very grateful that we received kind support. It is unforgettable.”

SUSTAINABLE DEVELOPMENT.

Sustainable development in the midst of year two of a pandemic is...challenging. Development is a collaborative process involving site visits, meetings, and other face-to-face interactions not always possible in 2021.

Active fighting in Myanmar also put some projects on hold, as families were forced to flee from their villages and emergency relief took precedence over sustainable development in these areas. Where they could, our local staff and partners did an exceptional job of keeping these projects running.

“When ISIS came, our school was broken; there was no electricity, no windows, no doors. But now our school has been built, lights and everything have been fixed.”
